EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

In the Calcutta of my childhood the best place to eat a dosa was the Madras Tiffin Room on Chittaranjan Avenue. Taken there by an accompanying adult I would choose between a plain dosa or a masala dosa. Life was simple. Recently I came across an ad for an establishment that offers 22 varieties of dosa, including Pav Bhaji Dosa, Spring Roll Dosa, Chicken Butter Masala Dosa and Chettinad Butter Masala Dosa.

The famous paradox of Buridan's ass, named after the 14th century French philosopher Jean Buridan, places a donkey equidistant from two identical stacks of hay. Unable to choose which of the two to eat from, the indecisive beast dies of starvation. Can too much choice — in dosas or anything else — turn decision-making more difficult instead of making it easier? Up until the 1970s, early 1980s, there were two brands of car available in India. Today there are 15 car makers, each offering several models, in different price ranges, and with different features. The consumer is king. But undecided lies the head that wears the crown. When television came to India the sole channel people could watch was Doordarshan, in black-and-white. Today viewers can choose between over 900 authorised channels, not to mention many unauthorised streaming links. And they can do so on full-colour TV sets with a selection of screens in a plethora of sizes and specifications.

In the 1952 Parliamentary elections, a total 53 parties contested, out of which 14 were national organisations and 39 were regional. According to the Election Commission, by 2014 there were no less than 1,687 registered parties in India, a thirtyfold rise from the time of the first polls. Democracy is all about freedom of choice. The greater the choice, the more the freedom. And freedom of choice — regarding dosas or candidates — also means the freedom not to choose. Except choosing not to choose is also a choice. That's the paradox of freedom of choice: You're free of everything except the necessity of choice itself. Ask Buridan's ass, RIP.

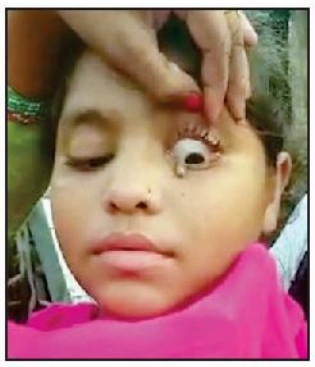
Teen crying stone tears for over two months



Gadiya Balidaspur: A 15-year-old girl in Gadiya Balidaspur, Uttar Pradesh has reportedly crying small stones every day for the past two months and doctors don't have any medical explanation for it.

According to the girl's family, small stones started falling from her eyes on July 17, and she has been crying between 10 and 15 stone tears every day since. More than 70 so-called stone tears have been collected in the over two months since the bizarre phenomenon was reported.

Chandni's immediate family and her relatives are convinced that the girl is really crying stone tears, but ophthalmologists are adamant that such a thing is impossible.

Japanese food artist's handmade 3D cookie frostings

Tokyo: Generally speaking, frosted cookies are among the simplest, most basic desserts you can find, but that description certainly doesn't apply to the artistic masterpieces created by Japanese food artist Izumi.

Saying that Izumi's frosted cookies look too good to eat is an understatement. It's damn near impossible to believe that they are 100% edible, not to mention eating one of them must feel like ruining a timeless masterpiece.

The Japanese food artist uses his talent to create incredible three-dimensional cookie decorations by hand and has developed the skill to recreate almost any anime character. The 3D aspect is also awe-inspiring, with some characters looking ready to jump off of the cookie.

Overflowing dustbins on

Mahadevapura-Rammanahalli Main Road

Sir,

Overflowing garbage bins have become a common sight on Mahadevapura-Rammanahalli Main Road. The foul smell spreads due to the accumulated waste in the grip of poor sanitation. A large amount of garbage spilling onto this Road poses serious health hazards, but the civic authorities have turned a blind eye to the problem.

What is more appalling is that the garbage dumped in the bin beside St. Arnold Central School on the main road is also overflowing. Lack of sanitation can put school children's health at risk. The foul smell emanating from these bins often makes it difficult for people to pass through such spots.

As a result, overflowing garbage bins along the roads have become an order of the day, with the garbage clearance mechanism losing its efficacy. The area around such bins is filled with foul smell, making it unbearable to even pass by.

I request the authorities concerned to look into the matter at the earliest.

Heart-wrenching suicide note of actress asks for forgiveness

Bengaluru/Kushalnagar, Oct. 1 (BCT)- Budding Kannada television actor Savi Madappa alias Soujanya (25) was found dead under suspicious circumstances in an apartment at Doddabele village near Kumbalgodu on the outskirts of Bengaluru in neighbouring Ramanagara district yesterday.

Police found a four-page note and they suspect that she may have died by suicide. Savi is the daughter of Cheekanda Prabhu Madappa and Renuka, residents of Basaveshwara Layout under Mullusoge Gram Panchayat in Kushalnagar of Kodagu District.

Ramanagara Superintendent of Police (SP) Girish said that the Police were informed about the death at about 11 am on Thursday. Savi had acted in a couple of serials and films like 'Chaukattu, 'Fun' and 'Nanobbne Olleyavnu".

Police went to the scene at once and recovered the note. Savi was living alone in the apartment for a year and half. Preliminary investigations by the Police suggest it was a case of death by suicide, but it can be ascertained only after the post-mortem report is completed.

A suicide note signed by Savi Madappa speaks about problems with her mental health and not being able to cope. The actress living in Bengaluru has repeatedly apologised in the four-page note to her parents and other family members and friends. It seems to have been written over four days, suggesting she was contemplating suicide through this time. There is no indication of her having reached out for help.

"I am only responsible for this...so family, please forgive me...I had promised I'll never do such stupid thing in my life but I had no option. I was totally killed inside. Day by day, I was going so low. I never saw myself like before," the note said.

The COVID lockdown has been tough, like many others, on those working in the television and film industry. Many have been pushed into economic distress and some have spoken about depression.

The suicide note, written in English and Kodava language, revealed to the Police that she was preparing to take the extreme step and had written the four-page note for four days — one page a day — and she has mentioned the date of each day.

Deep distress

A part of her death note read: "I am really sorry for doing this. Pappa I love you so much. As I spoke to you I am not able to take it anymore. It is becoming difficult 'appa' (father). I had high hopes that I would make it big in the cinema industry. All hopes are dashed. Sorry mommy, as I said I will come today, I did not know I would come this way. So sorry Ma. I am so sorry about this. Please Pappa, you have to take care of mother.

"I love you all. Behind this my mental state is not good. Health issues are killing from inside. So I felt better doing this. I am so sorry. Even now I don't feel like doing this. But, Pappa, mommy, I am sorry, I love you for everything."

In her last couple of posts on social media, Savi had turned emotional where she had shared that people and relationships have to be sacrificed if one focuses on career. In one of the posts she wrote, "Please do not ill-treat anyone. People who have smiling faces have a lot of pain but are invisible to the outside world."

Father blames co-actor

Savi's father Madappa told the Police that his daughter was living alone in the apartment and expressed doubts that she has committed suicide. "She is courageous and only two days back she had asked me Rs. 1 lakh for some commitment and today morning too she spoke with her mother. She was in a good frame of mind and had told her mother that she would come home today. We are shocked," he told the Police.

In his complaint, Madappa has blamed TV actor Vivek and his daughter's make-up man Mahesh for harassing Savi. Madappa alleged that Vivek was pressurising his daughter to marry him and Mahesh was assisting Vivek.

Farmers to lay siege to Vidhana Soudha on Oct.5

Mysuru, Oct.1 (PM&DM)- Urging the Government for revision of FRP (Fair and Remunerative Price) for sugarcane, farmers will lay siege to Vidhana Soudha at Bengaluru on Oct.5.

Announcing this at a press meet here yesterday, Karnataka State Sugarcane Growers Association President Kurubur Shanthakumar demanded stipulation of sugarcane FRP at a minimum of Rs.3,500 per tonne.

Maintaining that the Centre has not revised sugarcane FRP for the past two years, he said that the Rs.5 increase announced by the Centre a few days ago was nothing but ridiculous.

Accusing the Government of bowing to the pressure of sugar lobby, he alleged that the Centre was fooling farmers in the name of doubling farmers income. Contending that the current FRP is far below actual costs of sugarcane production, he wanted the Government to fix a scientific FRP.

Noting that standing sugarcane crops grown in about two-and-a-half lakh acres in Northern Karnataka districts of Bagalkot, Vijayapura and Belagavi are getting destroyed every year due to floods, he demanded the Government to cover the crop under the Centre's Fasal Bima Yojana.

Asserting that some sugar factories were cheating farmers on sugar yield determination and sugarcane weighment, he urged the factories to clear all dues to cane suppliers, which was mounting after every crushing season.

Reiterating that the Government must hike sugarcane FRP with immediate effect, he said that thousands of farmers from across the State will take part in the Vidhana Soudha siege on Oct.5.

Referring to Energy Minister Sunil Kumar's statement that meters will not be installed for irrigation pumpsets, he wanted the State Government to make it clear to the Centre that it (State) was opposed to the Centre's power sector privatisation Bill, which he said was detrimental to the interests of farmers.

Six days for 412th Nada Habba Dasara-2021

Abhimanyu carries wooden Ambari

Sumptuous breakfast for over 300 elephant handlers, followers of politicians, media

Mysuru, Oct. 1 (MTY&BCT)- The till now medium-pace Dasara preparations got a fillip this morning with a host of activities seeing the light of the day starting from breakfast to mahouts and kavadis as a friendly gesture, assembling of the Golden Throne inside the Durbar Hall, mounting of wooden Ambari on Howdah Elephant Abhimanyu, inauguration of the Dasara website https://mysoredasara.gov.in/ and also announcement of cultural programme dates and performers.

While the assembling of the Golden Throne was not open for public and the media as it has been a tradition that has been followed since years, other inaugurations were rather crowded with the events led by Mysuru District Minister S.T. Somashekar and a host of elected representatives.

Over 300 persons comprising elephant handlers, mahouts, kavadis, assistants, Forest Department staff and officials, media and the followers of Ministers, MLAs and heads of Boards and Corporations had sumptuous breakfast in the premises of Mysore Palace. The meal was dished out by Mysore Palace Board and consisted of idli, vada, dosa, halwa and khara pongal.

After serving breakfast himself, Somashekar and other elected representatives ate breakfast and proceeded to the place where the wooden howdah was mounted on Abhimanyu who carried it effortlessly and walked for over 45-minutes conveying the message that he is still a champion.

Today was the first day when the wooden howdah was mounted on Abhimanyu for this year's celebrations. Deputy Conservator of Forests Dr. V. Karikalan clarified to Star of Mysore that the wooden art work weighs exactly 280 kgs. Minor variations in the weight are observed when painted and polished but the actual weight is 280 kg. To carry the wooden Ambari, sandbags weighing 300 kg were mounted on top of the tusker.

Manually-operated crane

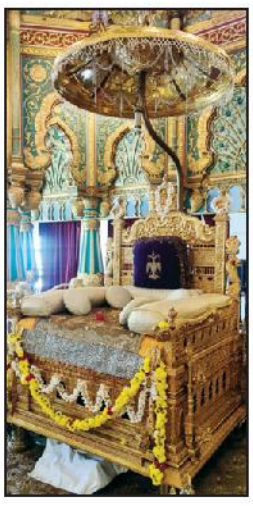
As this is a sacred practice, Tula Lagna between 9.25 am and 10.15 am was chosen to perform pujas and the howdah was mounted with the help of a manually-operated crane. A six-member team was appointed for the task and no one was allowed near the place. The number of people who mounted the Ambari was restricted so as to prevent unnecessary noise and confusion with each person giving his own suggestions.

Also, the crowds were warned not to shout or clap once the Ambari is lifted and carried by Abhimanyu. After the successful mounting, Abhimanyu, accompanied by kumki elephant Chaitra and Cauvery, walked around the Palace fortress for about 45 minutes. Before this, Minister Somashekar showered flower petals on Abhimanyu.

The crane was mounted near the designated place next to the residence of the royal family and Abhimanyu was made to salute one side of the house where usually, Pramoda Devi Wadiyar watches from a window the Golden Howdah mounting on the Vijayadashami day.

MLAs S.A. Ramdas, L. Nagendra, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta, heads of various Boards and Corporations, Deputy Commissioner Dr. Bagadi Gautham, ADC Dr. Manjunathaswamy, DCP Pradeep Gunti, Palace Board Deputy Director T.S. Subramanya and others were present.

Golden Throne ready for regal tradition



Mysuru, Oct. 1 (MTY&BCT)- The gem-studded Golden Throne (Suvarna Simhasana) was assembled this morning at the Durbar Hall inside iconic Mysore Palace with all the accompanying rituals. Along with the Golden Throne, the Silver Bhadrasana was assembled at the Kannadi Thotti.

This is one of the major attractions during Navarathri celebrations and the Khas Durbar or the Private Durbar will be performed by titular head of erstwhile Mysore Royal Family Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar. But the Golden Throne will not be kept for public display this time and the tourists have to be content with file images and videos.

Today being the Bhadrapadamasa Krishna Paksha Dashami Day, the Throne was assembled at the Amba Vilas Durbar Hall in the auspicious Tula Lagna between 9.15 am and 9.30 am while the Bhadrasana was assembled at the Kannadi Thotti. Prior to that, Navagraha puja and Shanti Homa were performed at 7.20 am at the Durbar Hall.

As part of this ritual, the Pattada Aane (elephant), Pattada Kudure (horse) and Pattada Hasu (cow), all adorned with royal cloth, were also brought and pujas performed. In all, there are 14 parts to the throne that includes the steps leading to the throne, golden umbrella, main seat with cushions, arms rest to name a few. About 20 members of Palace staff assembled them.

Usually artisans from Gejjagalli village in Nanjangud assemble the throne, but this time, none of them were invited for the procedure and only the Palace staff did the job, giving a go-by to the tradition.

Heavy rains: Driver killed as tree falls on auto at Five Lights Circle

Miraculous escape for passenger

Mysuru, Oct. 1 (MK,SBD&KS) - Last evening's heavy rains not only threw normal life out of gear but also claimed the life of an autorickshaw driver at Five Lights Circle in N.R. Mohalla here.

Ejaz Ahmed

The rain, which began at about 5 pm, increased gradually giving brakes in-between and continued to lash heavily till about 7.30 pm.

Following heavy rains, a huge Gulmohar Tree fell on the autorickshaw (KA-06-7095) claiming the life of auto driver Ejaz Ahmed (43), a resident of Haleemnagar in city.

Ejaz, after picking up a passenger yesterday evening, was proceeding from St. Philomena's Church towards Five Lights Circle in N.R. Mohalla. When he came to the Circle, a huge Gulmohar tree on the roadside got uprooted and two huge branches of the tree fell on the front portion of the auto killing Ejaz on the spot

Meanwhile, the passenger, who escaped with minor injuries, is said to have fled from the spot, according to eye witnesses, who added that as the branches had fallen on the front portion of the auto, the passenger's life was saved.

Though the Police, Fire and Emergency Services personnel and the MCC's Abhaya team rushed to the spot, there was a delay of about an hour in clearing the tree and retrieving the body of Ejaz from the auto due to heavy downpour, which angered the public.

Finally, the body of Ejaz was removed from the auto and shifted to K.R. Hospital and after the doctors declared him dead, the body was shifted to MMC&RI mortuary for post-mortem.

ACP (Traffic) S.E. Gangadharaswamy, Lashkar Inspector Suresh Kumar, Devaraja Traffic Inspector Muniyappa, District Fire Officer Shivaswamy and staff Siddegowda, Shankar, Pramod, Mahesh, Shivappa, Venkappa, Thomas and others visited the spot.

Protest: Meanwhile, the public, led by SDPI leader Abdul Majeed staged a protest near the mortuary holding the MCC responsible for the death of Ejaz due to delay in rescue works.

The public demanded pruning of weak tree branches and removal of weak trees to prevent them from falling on moving vehicles besides demanding adequate compensation to the family members of deceased Ejaz.

MCC's ADC Roopa, who visited the spot, assured the protestors of providing compensation from the Disaster Relief Fund besides stating that providing compensation from the Social Security Scheme would be put before the Committee.

The ADC also said that the MCC officials would visit the family of the deceased and extend help to the family members and added that action would be taken against MCC officials and staff if there was dereliction in performing their duties, following which the protest was taken back.

Trees uprooted at various places: Meanwhile, the heavy downpour uprooted trees at many places and also huge weak tree branches came crashing down on the roads causing traffic jams. Also, rainwater flooded houses in low-lying areas and the residents had a tough time removing water from their houses.

Trees and branches came crashing down at Five Lights Circle, near Mahadeshwara Temple in Sunnadakeri, opposite Ambedkar Bhavan near Devaraj Urs Road and other places hampering smooth flow of traffic. Rainwater also flooded prominent roads such as M.G. Road and Adichunchanagiri Road causing inconvenience to the motorists and pedestrians.
